

Vice Commodore

Welcome to the new Editor of the Blue Water Bulletin – Keith Sandham

By Garry Web

Keith comes to this role after the departure of our previous Editor Wendy Campbell who all members will remember as taking on this position to introduce the new format of the BWB. We owe Wendy a debt of gratitude for the enthusiastic approach she applied to this role but time has been her enemy and now she must devote more of this time to other tasks.

Hence when one door closes, another opens and it reveals another enthusiastic member to take on this position in Keith Sandham. Keith needs no introduction because you have been seeing Keith's work through the lens of his camera now for some time in the hundreds of photographs which have appeared throughout the current series of the BWB.

Also members would be aware of Keith's award at the Annual General Meeting of "Club person of the Year 2005 ." Keith received this award for the vigorous effort he undertook in the committee positions of Power as publicity officer and photographer where he produced many articles the most recent on Alan Terry and his vessel Duantless. In the role of Risk Management committee member he devoted considerable time and effort to compile the Risk Analysis survey on behalf of the Power Section.

Keith has not only confined his skills to the Power Section, his constant support of the Sunset Deck concerts, Opening Day and numerous other Club functions has not escaped his camera which have been readily enjoyed by all members reading the BWB.

Keith has remained a constant and participating member of Fremantle Sailing Club and his publicity skills have not been overlooked when the search for a new Editor was underway. His broadening of these skills in the role of Editor of the BWB has not been taken without a thorough examination on his part of what role entails, so it was without hesitation that the Board of Management approved his appointment at the December meeting.

Keith, we look forward to having you 'On Board'.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS

GENERAL MEETING

TUESDAY 4 APRIL 2006

In accordance with the Constitution of Fremantle Sailing Club (Inc)
NOTICE is hereby given that the General Meeting of the Club will be held in the Wardroom on Tuesday 4 April 2006 at 7.30 pm.

Please note your diary for attendance.

GENERAL MANAGER